Ethics and the Tax Professional

Designed specifically for tax professionals, this course tackles the ethical responsibilities that come with tax practice. From Circular 230 requirements and tax return positions to handling client records, conflicts of interest, and written tax advice, you'll cover the issues most likely to arise in day-to-day work. The course also addresses due diligence, supervisor responsibilities, and personal tax compliance obligations. A real-world case study on disreputable conduct ties it all together, helping you recognize risk and respond appropriately in your own practice.

Chapter 1: ETHICS AND THE TAX PROFESSIONAL

Chapter Objective

After completing this chapter, you should be able to:

- Identify the Internal Revenue Service Requirements as outlined in Circular 230.

Introduction

The tax preparation and tax consulting industry has historically enjoyed less government regulation than the practice of accountancy. In 1995, the IRS proposed studying the concept of tax preparer registration in order to combat rising fraud in the earned income credit program. This proposal was dropped because of widespread industry opposition. Instead, the IRS increased the scrutiny applied to firms applying to file tax returns electronically. In 2010, the IRS issued regulations requiring the registration of tax preparers. Since January 1, 2011, all paid tax return preparers have been required to have a Preparer Tax Identification Number (PTIN).

The tax practice field has had less ethical guidance because of the unique relationship between the CPA and client. In a tax engagement, the CPA is an “advocate of the taxpayer.” The courts have held that there is nothing illegal or sinister in a taxpayer arranging one’s affairs so as to pay the lowest tax legally available.

I. CIRCULAR 230

Circular 230 is published by the Treasury Department. It prescribes regulations governing the practice of attorneys, CPAs, EAs, Enrolled Actuaries, appraisers, and others before the Internal Revenue Service. Circular 230 has been amended several times recently, and more changes are proposed. This course reprints and discusses most, but not all, of Circular 230.

A. EXPLANATIONS OF PROVISIONS

Tax advisors play an increasingly important role in the federal tax system, which is founded on principles of voluntary compliance. The tax system is best served when the public has confidence in the honesty and integrity of the professionals providing tax advice. To restore, promote, and maintain the public’s confidence in those individuals and firms, Circular 230 sets forth regulations and best practices applicable to all tax advisors. Circular 230 regulations are limited to practice before the IRS and do not alter or supplant other ethical standards applicable to practitioners.

B. WHAT IS NOT CONSIDERED "PRACTICE BEFORE THE IRS"

Section 10.7 of Circular 230 provides a long list of exceptions and exclusions to Circular 230. The following persons and situations are not considered "practicing before the IRS" and therefore are generally exempt from the rules we will discuss later in this course.

(a) Representing oneself – individuals may appear on their own behalf before the IRS, provided they present satisfactory identification.

(b) Participating in rulemaking – individuals may participate in rulemaking.

(c) Limited practice –

1) In general. Subject to the limitations in paragraph (c)(2) of this section, an individual who is not a practitioner may represent a taxpayer before the Internal Revenue Service in the circumstances described in this paragraph (c)(1), even if the taxpayer is not present, provided the individual presents satisfactory identification and proof of his or her authority to represent the taxpayer. The circumstances described in this paragraph (c)(1) are as follows:

(i) An individual may represent a member of his or her immediate family.

(ii) A regular full-time employee of an individual employer may represent the employer

(iii) A general partner or regular full-time employee of a partnership may represent the partnership

(iv) A bona fide officer or a regular full-time employee of a corporation, association, or organized group may represent the corporation, association, or organized group

(v) A regular full-time employee of a trust, receivership, guardianship, or estate may represent the trust, receivership, guardianship, or estate

(vi) An officer or a regular employee of a governmental unit, agency, or authority may represent the governmental unit, agency, or authority in the course of his or her official duties.

(vii) An individual may represent any individual or entity, who is outside the United States, before personnel of the Internal Revenue Service when such representation takes place outside the United States.

(2) Limitations.

(i) An individual who is under suspension or disbarment from practice before the Internal Revenue Service may not engage in limited practice before the Internal Revenue Service under paragraph (c)(1) of this section.

(ii) The Commissioner, or delegate, may, after notice and opportunity for a conference, deny eligibility to engage in limited practice before the Internal Revenue Service under paragraph (c)(1) of this section to any individual who has engaged in conduct that would justify a sanction under §10.50.

(iii) An individual who represents a taxpayer under the authority of paragraph (c)(1) of this section is subject, to the extent of his or her authority, to such rules of general applicability regarding standards of conduct and other matters as prescribed by the Internal Revenue Service.

(d) Specialappearan ces. The Commissioner, ordelegate, may, subjecttocondit ionsdeemedappro priate, authorize an individual who is not otherwise eligible to practice before the Internal Revenue Service to represent another person in a particular matter.

(e) Fiduciaries. For purposes of this part, a fiduciary (for example, a trustee, receiver, guardian, personal representative, administrator, or executor) is considered to be the taxpayer and not a representative of the taxpayer.

(f) Effective/applicability date. This section is applicable beginning August 2, 2011.

Observation

None of the items above in (a)-(e) are considered to be practicing before the IRS.

Section 10.8 of Circular 230 discusses the application of Circular 230 on those that prepare tax returns and the application of the rules to other individuals as follows:

(a) Preparing all or substantially all of a tax return. Any individual who for compensation prepares or assists with the preparation of all or substantially all of a tax return or claim for refund must have a preparer tax identification number. Except as otherwise prescribed in forms, instructions, or other appropriate guidance, an individual must be an attorney, certified public accountant, enrolled agent, or registered tax return preparer to obtain a preparer tax identification number. Any individual who for compensation prepares or assists with the preparation of all or substantially all of a tax return or claim for refund is subject to the duties and restrictions relating to practice in subpart B, as well as subject to the sanctions for violation of the regulations in subpart C.

(b) Preparing a tax return and furnishing information. Any individual may for compensation prepare or assist with the preparation of a tax return or claim for refund (provided the individual prepares less than substantially all of the tax return or claim for refund), appear as a witness for the taxpayer before the Internal Revenue Service, or furnish information at the request of the Internal Revenue Service or any of its officers or employees.

(c) Application of rules to other individuals. Any individual who for compensation prepares, or assists in the preparation of, all or a substantial portion of a document pertaining to any taxpayer's tax liability for submission to the Internal Revenue Service is subject to the duties and restrictions relating to practice in subpart B, as well as subject to the sanctions for violation of the regulations in subpart C. Unless otherwise a practitioner, however, an individual may not for compensation prepare, or assist in the preparation of, all or substantially all of a tax return or claim for refund, or sign tax returns and claims for refund. For purposes of this paragraph, an individual described in 26 CFR 301.7701-15(f) is not treated as having prepared all or a substantial portion of the document by reason of such assistance.

(d) Effective/applicability date. This section is applicable beginning August 2, 2011.

An EA who is practicing before the IRS and does not fall into one of the exception categories above is subject to subpart B of Circular 230 – Duties and Restrictions relating to practice before the IRS. It is reproduced below and should be read in its entirety.

Treasury and IRS Propose Regulations to Update Rules for Tax Professionals Who Can Practice Before the IRS

The Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service today issued proposed regulations to update the rules for certain tax professionals who can practice before the IRS; these rules are contained in Treasury Department Circular 230.

The IRS Office of Professional Responsibility generally has responsibility for matters related to practitioner conduct, and exclusive responsibility for discipline, including disciplinary proceedings and sanctions. The proposed regulations, if finalized, would amend Circular 230 in various ways to account for changes in the law and the evolving nature of tax practice.

Among other changes, the proposed regulations would remove or update the parts of Circular 230 related to registered tax return preparers and tax return preparation, as well as contingent fees to reflect changes in the law since the prior amendments to Circular 230 in 2011 and 2014.The proposed regulations would also revise or eliminate other provisions that are out of date.

Additionally, the proposed regulations would incorporate new provisions that better align Circular 230 with the current practice environment, such as requiring that practitioners maintain technological competency as part of their practice before the IRS. The proposed regulations would also clarify some provisions, such as confirming that OPR retains jurisdiction over practitioners who have been suspended or disbarred from practice.

Finally, the proposed regulations would provide rules related to appraisers, including the standards for disqualification.
